There's a great possibility that sometime in 1980 you'll be reading a 40 page Marvel comic for 50¢. According to AD HICK, Marvel's Joe Gallo has been conducting a heavy campaign to gather more advertising for the Marvel line. The campaign is that Marvel, rather than paying along another price increase with no increase in size, would allow direct page signatures to the publisher, which would be composed of nine or ten pages of advertising and six or seven pages of artwork. (A number of Marvel employees have been told to gear up for an increase in program.) Of course, this isn't yet official, and Marvel may again opt for the step-by-step increase of price only.

Leslie Jones, formerly editor of the Phoenix magazine, has been named editor at Marvel. He'll join the staff effective January 16, with Danny Fingers (currently editor of the reprint line) as assistant. His books have been assigned to him as yet.

Marvel is experimenting with the limited edition comic reader although it's possible there might be more marketing of these books, beginning with a new 2-4000 book in the works. The book would be similar to the European edition (X-MEN, etc.) with best covers, better paper and a higher price. Chris Claremont, John Byrne and Tony Austin will do the story. Further looks to the line might include the PRISONER comic story a few years ago by John Kirby, Steve Englehart and G. F. Kane, a CAROLINE-DE, THUNDER book by Roger McKenzie and Frank Miller, and possibly a SPIDER-MAN. The hope would be that readers could support a character that wouldn't commonly be extended on the next month.

As mentioned previously, Marvel and Goe/Cole are doing a series of pre-written comics to be given away with the large bottles of Coke (the Star bottle, as believed). There will be two comics which will be released in two bottles of three: SPIDER-MAN by Arnie Mesnick, Joe Musney and Mike Lupatin; PANTHER comic written and drawn by John Byrne; THE INCREDIBLE HULK by Doug Moench, Steve Ditko and Al Milgrom; with the second group comprised of three STAR WIND comics, with Jo Duffy, Archie Goodwin and Chris Claremont doing the writing and Carmine Infantino illustrating. Each comic will be thirty-two pages with no ads, and like the Marvel comic books will introduce new off-beat and will not be read by current fans. The comics will unfold to become parts of the character.

Marvel is also continuing their newspaper supplement experiment. Joe Jacob Mautner's COMIC STRIP CIRCUS returns on page 12 for details. Jerry O'Neil is writing an eight-page SPIDER-MAN-HULK strip for one of the issues.

Marvel is happy to report that Machine Men is doing well after two re-run goals! Machine operations and don't be running to Marvel in January.

Marvel has put its resources into new titles, but the regular books are holding their own for Marvel to growing for within the bigger size books or new titles. Most likely at the moment is MACHINEMEN, with the CALEB MARSH and DOCTOR WHO projects still possible. There are some reports that Stan Lee is getting around saying that he wants to make THE SILVER SLAB again as a regular book, but he's looking for the right artist. It's a shame Shalafango is in debt...

Following MARVEL TEAM-UP #10 (which, following format, will be a 48 page), there will be a few issues featuring characters that don't include SPIDER-MAN, Miles and Ron Wilson are currently working on a THOR-POWER MAN story, for example.

The DOCTOR WHO comic book will be changing direction with #14, with the fourth incident becoming more mature than.

Chris Claremont is changing the direction of DOCTOR DRAGON, away from the monster-type of plots that have been prevalent and toward the fantasy-magical type done in the 1960s.

Roger McKenzie and Bob Simpson have left BATTLESTAR GALACTICA and the search for their successors continues. Steven Grant and David Anderson have done on leave, and Grant has written another newspaper with Howard Chaykin doing the first part and Neil Ruckman the second.

Steve Anderson is also drawing an inventory DOCTOR STRANGE story written by John Capompolo. David Mitchell has written a 100-page DR. STRANGE that was drawn by Barry Gornall.

The Key Tronics-Cole House independent of ELIC will debut in a future issue of EPIC ILLUSTRATED. The first issue will include work by Emile Cullen, Jim Starlin, Mike Ditko, Woody Pin, Sol Jordan, Ray Fox, John Fawcett, Thomas MacIntyre, Arthur Byrnes, George Bush, Carl Potts, Don Lee, John Burrows, Rudy Nelson and Bob Verbit, with a cover by Fred Fawcett.

Then CAPTAIN AMERICA memory are described last month (which was in the late 70s) would be swapped after the story was submitted too early to take advantage of.

A Chris Claremont-Miles Young JOB CAROL ANTHONY story will turn up as a STAR WIND story.

Miles Goodwin is doing the 1980 MACHINEMEN IRON-HALL. Amanda Giff will become permanent editor of the regular MACHINEMEN book when Pat Broderick takes over the book.

MARSH BARUCH #1 will feature the first volume of the STAR-LORD written by Doug Moench and Tom Sutton, which will attempt to do the first two together a bit more.

David Mitchell will be writing and plotting the second half of Mary Mautner's Black Cat two-part in THE SUNDAY SPIDER-MAN, while Roger Stern will do the story for the second half of Mary's Wolverine two-part and Miles has will perform double duties for the second half of Mary's OLD FEAR story scheduled for #1 and 2. In addition, two other inventory plots Mary has for SPIDER-MAN books, one featuring the Black Widow, the other with the Big Head, will be scripted by someone else.

THE INCREDIBLE HULK #14 is drawn by Steve Ditko.

Wally Wood is taking Frank Miller's cover for SPIDER-MAN #144.

Upcoming in MARVEL TWO-INO (1981) Thing and the Angel vs. The Beast.

Tom Mitchell will be doing taking for some of the books edited by Al Milgrom.

J.M. DeMatteis is doing a MARVEL title-in with Joe Buscemi and Bob Wiatt, not to be confused with the Starpage studio EMING title by DeMatteis and Buscemi from last year. DeMatteis is also writing a Splinterfish Highway tear-up for MARVEL TEAM-UP.

MARVEL SUPER SPECIAL #18, featuring STAR TREK, was expected to cost $2.95, but someone somewhere slipped up and the magazine was mistakenly labeled and shipped at the $1.95 price. Considering the huge sales potential, Marvel stands to lose quite a bit on the mistake.

Red Simon will succeed in an upcoming issue of THE AVENGERS.

Yes, a new villainess, debut in SACRILEGIOUS MAMA #1. The Team Suped appear in #14, and both stories are written by Tom DeFalco.

Splinterfish will battle the Starpage fly like Splinter-Man fly, not the Real.

Bill Sandbrook is drawing on Force of FANTASTIC FOUR.

Implosion will graduate to SHIELD #4.

How bad like telling Marvel what to do with their comic? Well, Marvel has fulfilled the fantasies of many ITs, because on the market on this way you meet a GREEN-MAN/WOLF titled page featuring a six page story done especially for it. Just the thing for sleeping, sleep - you'll have something to read.

Whitman News

Another on the page, Whitman Publishing Co. 5 Gold Key Comics Group has moved into that great town in the city for national comic group news. The line will now be known as Whitman Comics, with all distribution (linked to plastic) bags. Whitman, beginning in regular to Dell Comics in 1972 and continuing to Gold Key Comics since 1981, was the author's oldest comic company to call on national over-rides. Starting with some cover dated '1981' (March, 1982), the line will only be available through the parties carrying the biggest comics already back to 8-March. There will most probably continue to be lagged as they are now, according to general and company S.A., Sherry character in one bag, Whitman character in another, etc.). However, because of the national changeover, the specific are not known at this time. We're not sure if the longer and various titles will be about.

THE BLACK HOLE #1-3 have appeared in lagged form already, and #1 and #2 have not to be repeats of the special of the line from WALT DISNEY'S GUNSHOTS #34, drawn by Stan Spiggle. #3 joined BEYOND THE BLACK HOLE on the cover in two and drawn by St. Matthews. 100 rate is the last day for the first time in about twenty-five years. Stan Spiggle is writing a regular assignment from Whitman Publishing.

The publisher was wide, according to Gold Key's Wally Green, because the return percentage from national distribution was growing extremely large in recent years, and the percentages were far more profitable for the Whitman lagged comics distributed through department, variety and grocery stores. Since the Whitman Plotting script has far more contacts with these types of stores because of their extensive line of coloring books, children's books, games, puzzles and playing cards, the decision to go exclusively to this type of distribution was not difficult to make. Green believes that IF DC and Marvel had the same option open to them they too might go this way.

With the publisher to lagged cover, the production has been decreased by about 80%, and the material titles have been increased. One are THE MAGICAL MOYE MR. UNCLE SCROOGES, BOBBY ON THE TALE OF MYSTERY, BULLHORN AND ROCKY, GERARD'S CHOCOLATE, HAPPY GOY, WALLY'S BELEVE IT OR NOT AND BLACK SON OF STONE. Only WALT DISNEY'S COMICS AND STORIES remain a weekly, with MOCKY MOORE, BIG BUNNY, HUFFY, OWEN AND LOUIE ALICE FOR WOODCHUCK, TOM AND JERRY, SUPER-GOOP, CHIP TO GRUB, WON'T THE MAJOR, POKEY EGG, LITTLE LUKE AND DAFFY DUCK during close to six issues a year. RONALD DUCK AND UNCLE SCROOGES going to two issues a year, OWEN AND RONALD going to three issues a year, WOODY WOODRICK AND TWEETY AND CHICKY YESTER going to four issues a year, and THE PIKE RANTHER going down to four. Reaching or 14-months are THE BLACK HOLE, FLAME GORGON, BUCK ROGERS, BATTLE OF THE PLANETS, DEEP SEA THE ROADSHOW, WOLFGANG SAM, LOONEY TUNES, WILEY SABLY AND WHOLE THE POOL.

This means that there only four new issues titles left BLACK HOLE, FLAME, BUCK AND BATTLE OF THE PLANETS, and only one book is not licensed GILL THE LEAD, which has started Whitman's copyright for the last decade. The total issues per year is now 167, down from 276, a drop of 39%.

Beginning with #4, BUCK ROGERS will be written by J. Merv DeMatteis. Major promises that he and editor Whitman are attempting to do an interesting, thoughtful science fiction cover along the line of the STAR TREK TV show, consisted of a change in direction for the weekly unless Whitman approach.

Mathews, the new Dyn-title comic book approach. They are:
 (1) 1982 MOCKY AND ALICE
 (1) 1982 RONALD DUCK AND BUCK WARRIOR
 (1) 1984 SUPER-GOOP WITH SUPER TRIST

DC will very likely be adding two new books to the line in the near future. One of them will probably be TEEN TITANS, although no one is saying at the moment.

THE BEST OF DC #3 will also SUPERMAN put the focus on "Wonder-Tier Stories of the Daily Planet." Stories from SUPERMAN #79, 80 and 280, ACTION #211, 281 and 282, LOSS LEADS #17 and 43 and Johnny's (45th #1) and 43 are included. Julie Schwartz is the editor.

A couple of old magazines are making resurrections. Animal Man, one of the STRANGE ADVENTURES series in the late 1970s, resurges in WONDER WOMAN #281 (and here's

Steve Waller is also getting into the revival business with GREEN LANTERN. Before, the colorful villain-hero, will become a major foe for Q4 in the first Waller-written issue. Other Green Lantern problems will include a challenge to his ownership of the Green Lantern by the people of Angora, Abba Tur's home planet (the one who passed the lantern to Hal Jordan). Meanwhile, there will be a government consideration on Paria (Koyote) after a few of their phones crash — and there promises to resolve the Hal Jordan-Captain Paria relationship. Also — following the battle with the Wagoners of Oseus, the Guardians will call on Adam Strange to become a Green Lantern to replace the man.

Steve Waller and Joe Sackis will be teaming up to do the 28th issue of DC COMICS PRESENTS which will feature the first reprint four-colored story of a character, with Superman and Green Lantern teaming up. #28 will be a Superman/Phantom Strange team-up written by Neil Lahti and it will close up the Paria line which the introduction to the SUPERMAN LEGEND team-up in DCP #18. Joe Sackis and Joe Sackis are doing a three part tale featuring Phantom (Phantom, Man-hunter from Man in part one, Phantom in part two, and The Spectre in part three. This will follow the Q4 issue.

The LEGEND OF THE BISHOP series, originally slated to appear in March, April and May, has been rescheduled for April, May and June. UNOLD TALES OF THE GODS

OF SUPERHEROES will be rescheduled, appearing in August, September and October. Joe Sackis has written off the BISHOP issue, with John Byrne doing the first and Joe Sackis drawing the last two.

Joe Sackis's series for HOUSE OF MYSTERY and WIND will also have been assigned to writers. J. Steve Schwartz's HOUSE OF MYSTERY series for HOUSE OF MYSTERY will be done by Peter Rayne and the WIND COMMISSION, also by WIND #18, will be done by Joe Sackis and John Sackis from J.M. Schwartz's script. These series have yet to be definitively scheduled, although it is WIND will appear initially in two consecutive issues and then appear bi-monthly.

Media Review

Well, Lee Green, SEVEN JUDGE production, and his ally/old friend Oliver Newman-John, have broken up, so they'll expect the latter to be used as Media bait — and also, figure that the mutual debt may be forgiven. Further reports on the film indicate that half of the 50% financing for this script from Columbia (that) — and also that it has lost completely has yet to get much beyond the preproduction stage. Things are still very iffy at the moment. ... Speaking of New Lee, Mike Benson and Lee will finally get together for a movie project following the completion of Benson's current film, MACH OCHO DANGEROUS. Results to a well-known fan of the media. ... The CONAN movie is now being produced by Oliver DeMatteis, with Edward B. Rosenberg being placed on. John Miller, the director, is back in filing the screenplay for script and filming is now scheduled to begin in the summer of 1990. The budget is in the $10 to $15,000,000 range. ... Speaking of large budgets, producer-director George Lucas and Steven Spielberg have a new collaboration effort about to begin. Filming in the spring of 1990, THE LOST ARK, which has a budget of $20,000,000. Described only as high adventure with heavy characters, two scripts are planned already. ... Their Disney franchise, who recently received their first PG ratings on two of their films (BLACK HOLM and MICHAEL JACKSON) are doing another film. They're co-producing two films with Paramount. One is POKY, the Robert Downey-John Adams-Robin Williams picture which starts filming early next year, and the other is DREAM OF A DREAM, set in 19th Century England about a woman's experience who stays a dog.

Hal Barwood and Matthew Kottler return to, Babylon will direct. It's possible either may be hired PG... Fernando Lemos will play Ben Chasid in the Vega's father in George Lucas's version of CONAN, THE GREAT MACH. ... Charles DeMatteis and Lee Mendelson have a new feature-length script coming out in 1990, SON OF A DREAM, CHARLES BROWN AND DON'T COME BACK. They also have a new CBS special, SHE'S A GOOD MATE, CHARLES BROWN for 1990. ... THE BLUE BOYS (the return of New-well) (and) may undergo another title change (but's) hoped.

The point, it appears, is DC using television (according to a more conplete line to GARNETT) over networks that copyrighted (belonged to) the latter's Superheroes and Comics and story characters into the 1970s, 80s, 90s, or so-called in judgment. Quite an operation. ... The NEW ADVENTURE FOUR movies (the one with Media the other one being produced by ABC Film. ... Volume volume (New Lee, At-2nd, Miller) (and) New Lee has been named supervisor of a new New Lee-Benson version called DUCKY SCALA. It sounds to me that it-4 is returning to the type of characters they found their initial success with (New Lee) rather than the strange Archer-type progress they've been showing just the last three years. ... Benson Benson and Lee Benson (the Ben) has been made four of "New Lee-Benson" MACH THE MACH, a musical production. ... CBS is doing THE RETURN OF THE JUSTICE LEAGUE as a TV movie.

The three networks have announced their second seasons schedules, and the surprise was that both ABC 100000 and THE INCREDIBLE HULK have survived. Except for the CBS Monday night schedule (the opposite of the ABC's new 1000000 DUCKY SCALA, which is a PG, 2 single episode, some Benson and Benson Benson as two characters in 1990 Washington DC, making looks too interesting. ... I have hopes for THE NEW DUCKY, but we'll wait and see. ... YOUNG MAN OF THE YEAR seems to be having rough going at the moment, and a lot of criticism has to do with how little Charles Benson resembles James Cameron. If you can reconcile that, give the show a try. It's entertaining, and a welcome diversion from the other star games on the air these days. ... THE NEW ADVENTURE and THE RETURN OF THE JUSTICE LEAGUE will be seen in the same Friday night slot that the NEW ADVENTURE and MICHAEL JACKSON have been shown in (which means a lot of promising for bookends) and I don't get to see either because CBS's Friday night slot has been moved to Wednesday's. Part of a new coincidence, though two shows debuting in the 1970s, about a month of each other (YOUNG MAN OF THE YEAR and RETURN OF THE JUSTICE LEAGUE) both of which feature characters resembling the ones of Super Heroes. ... I would say the actual CAPTAIN AMERICA plot has pretty well settled the question of it being going to series. Don't hold your breath.

WILLIAM GALACTICA isn't dead at all, then, to ABC, making the other disappointing showing MACH AND MICHAEL made on Sunday, concluded that it shouldn't have been cancelled. What they're doing is a new television network called GALACTICA FIVE FIVE, which should be self-explanatory. However (you can't have everything, people) it appears it will have an entirely new cast — especially they'll be dinosaurs — although Loose Canons will show up to provide some continuity. Since my objection to the show was the plots and the writing, maybe something good will come of it.... Speaking of sci-fi, James West and Artemus Gordon return again in MCURE: WEST WILD WEST, starring Robert Conrad and Lee Majors. It will show up this summer or next fall.

Keep watching WAX ROBBERS IN THE 19TH CENTURY this summer and you'll see an episode scripted by Martin Pasko. He's writing another one, so is Danny Kirsch, but their role and production will depend on whether the show survives.

Add another comic character to the movie competition. POGO will become a television animated film in a process that took thirteen years to perfect, they say, produced from China and Gary Swarth (Thomas Productions) during the 1960s. The budget is about $1 million, and one of the values here being recycled. Don Feinberg will be Alfred, Bob Beaulieu (now late Page) Jonathan Winters (only he) Charley, Walter Price will be the Onions, and Jimmy Smiles will be P.T. Bridgman. Ray Thomas and Gerry Conway have been signed to write a science fiction-horror feature for Sony King Productions WITCH & DRAGON'S CROWN. In title and plot details are scarce at the moment, but it's a contemporary horror story based on a book Thomas optioned this year.

Tapscott died November 29th at age 74, the last of the three brothers. Former outlaws by three more talented brothers, Tapscott got very little recognition during his life for the movies he helped to play. I don't care what anybody says, I loved him. — S. Kibbi something with.

By the way, Steve Kibbi was wrong about SUPER FRIENDS. It was never done by Fleischer, only by their co-workers. Fleischer did the DC animated shows in the '60s, as well as the recent McMILLAN show (which still the law until the banned).

About the Marvel comic books: I was asked to help get a volume between DC and one of the independent ones? At the time, Independent Press was distributing Marvel. I pitched out a number of villains to the Free Press; those names were lifted from DC, and Marvel books (including On, On and On, On).

I agree that Tapscott did not have WAX powers, a suggestion which has been made before. Finally, I am a bit disturbed by Tapscott's ability to see what's happening on other planets. However, his suggested response to the sound of a gunshot is probably based on "The Midnight Star" by Don. I thought there he responded to the click of the trigger mechanism MECHAN the shot was actually fired. I have my own theories about the power of both Tapscott (On-On and On-On). Perhaps I'll publish them in the next issue of On-On.

In response to Lester Kinsinger's letter, there is a hero who is not Anglo-American, yet was a top writer for many years — Blackhawk. An original by Walt, his origin made him a hero — starting the time Blackhawk never included Walt Pals and only one Blackhawk. Yes, later writers, some of them's origin story, tested Blackhawk as an American, but they were wrong. Wonder what his real name was? His brother and sister undoubtedly had the Polish equivalent of the names "Jack" and "Carmen".

By the way, it will be the Tapscott collection was completed. There were not the first in the Tapscott illustrated series. ON, ON, ON, ON, ON

I, HELECH BRIDGEMAN, New York, NY, thank you for the nice review of SUPER FRIENDS. It's also to know our efforts are appreciated. The book's actually harder to write than it was at first — after there was the problem of what to do with Walt and Marvin. Thankfully, Marvin seemed to be a good idea to make really do.

MR. HYUN, CHARLOTTE and THOMAS BLAND presented them. They were also in the last edition of the Tapscott New Age comic book of which, out by 8 pages more, were completed as the first issue Marvel Chronicle. As of this fall, the New Age comic includes story 1980. Tapscott has also done a twelve-volume S.I. History, twelve volumes of Tapscott (two to the volume), and one number issue from 1981 (ON, ON, ON, ON, ON) to 1981 to 1981.

lified his no-forgive US only ON STAGE, even though it was still successful enough to continue. The last ON STAGE appeared September 19th. Apparently, he felt that the world's a greater success with Gary's colorful style. Also, four months that today's dividing could strip representation has made the kind of media network featured in ON STAGE unrepresentative in a way it could be appreciated. The comedian has announced his intention to make political statements of his own. While his politics are not as far to the right wing as Donald Trump's, they are definitely in the right of Gary's freedom. Presumably, Gary will not fall into the trap of doing a comedy treatment of the Elton Caplan and his successors, but will offer the support and freedom of humor shows that he is a master of. He can expect ADDED to be a big hit again.

leaving the city to that about it he'll be more people it doesn't pay them enough. Of course, this was always the case about his first career building on the city. Since then, Goodie finds the last of COMICAD, TARZAN and STREET on top of his career work just his work. And Williamson probably wants to move on to new opportunities, even though his city was originally done by his last, Alan Raymond.

The last strip by Williamson and Goodie will appear in February, 1990. That last appeared back in January of 1987. Apparently, the conditions is looking for opportunities for the team, though it's possible, with the small number of paper carrying it, that King will still be it.

Meanwhile, Williamson's next assignment will be to show Marshall's comic book version of THE JAPANESE STRIKE back, selected by Goodie. Interestingly, this was the issue that was supposed to be the STAGE back's only book in 1989, but negotiations between Larson and the syndicate broke down, and when the only finally appeared in 1990, Sam Manning was doing it.

Harold R. Ayres is writing from MINI VALUABLE. After 40 years of depicting the adventures of the "Yellow Pages," Foster has decided age 87 is time to lay down the sword.

Everyone reading this probably knows the tale of Hal Foster, one-time Goodie prizefighter, who married Ben Franklin, then Franklin in Chicago by Myra to study city law he became a successful filmmaker and was asked to draw the new TARZAN strip only in 1928, but by the time the strip finally appeared on January 7, 1929 and was a success, Foster was no longer available to work on it, so Ben Foster was hired to draw it, and how Foster returned to TARZAN to take over the Sunday page that the successful Myra on September 27, 1929, revolutionizing the comic as well as bringing high quality illustrations to newspaper comics. But the story strips had been down to either a semi-commercial style or by cartoonists who couldn't get the principles of comics as down yet.

After five quarter-century years of drawing TARZAN, Foster decided he wanted to quit only. He created FRANK VALUABLE, which first appeared on February 12, 1932, and the month it competed with Foster's TARZAN, about his last page of the season appeared May 1, 1932. Interestingly, Foster had suggested doing VALUABLE to (called) Foster's last comic (also syndicated TARZAN) in 1934, but they never took down. He had to wait until 1936 to sell it to King Features. Though VALUABLE was over a big hit, it never appeared in a daily. Foster created the value there for concepts on his beautiful detailed

Comic Strip Circus

LITTLE ORANGE has returned to telling new adventures of the playful girl and her friends. After a year of trying to find the best way to make it in the success of the last Broadway play (and ADDED), which is now the name the strip goes under) and have new stories, the Chicago Tribune-New York News Syndicate has finally found the format and content we also should do it. Licensed there is the new value-added on the strip. It shows the strip in a flexible version of Harold Gray's style and writes modern stories which reflect today's world and more of a fun piece.

The official starting date of Licensed Gray's ADDED was Sunday, December 1st. That's the date new-value papers added the strip, including the Chicago TRIBUNE and the Milwaukee JOURNAL. The TRIBUNE, Harold Gray's home paper, had its first ADDED on ON STAGE the last few years, but began running the strip with the new adventure featuring Daddy Peabody's new energy career progression (despite who was it). However, papers that had been running the strip before the 1st first saw Gray's version on December 1st with the strip shown on this page. Since Foster had been in the midst of a (mostly) one opportunity, New used the previous mode to keep it as a lead into the new story.

In order to take over ADDED, Star

Marvel Comic has come up with a new value in newspaper comics. They are going to start a comic book line.

The ADDED section, this twenty-page comic (including several) will appear quarterly beginning April 16, 1990. (It's indicated by Foster, not only will the comic be not own paper money, they'll be paid to carry it like any advertising tract.) Marvel will make their money from other than who pay to run ads in the comic. There will only be seven or eight pages of comics, plus the comic, with the other seven pages devoted to advertising.

Marvel turned the idea with a comic strip in the Columbus (OHIO) on August 28th after successfully. Marvel will also distribute the comic to eight other metropolitan cities at the moment: the Chicago TRIBUNE, Dallas TRIBUNE, Denver NEWS, Chicago CRICKET, San Jose WEEKLY, Philadelphia WORLD, New York WORLD, Philadelphia WORLD, and the Washington POST. Marvel hopes to go weekly by 1991. (One wonders whether there will be any conflict with their daily comic, as the franchise, in Washington where the STAR comic THE INCREDIBLE HULK.)

Big changes in two strips over at King Features: First, Al Williamson and Archie Goodwin are leaving WOLFE AGENT COMICAD, according to the COMICAD COMICAD, who will have a paid job for their office. The reason given by Williamson and Goodie for ent, which once suggested anything he'd done in THELMA! his grandeur and over-participation in legend.

VAGANET's success was confined to Hollywood. While it had no sale until 1956 to be made, the PERCE VAGANET film was a multi-million-dollar affair with an all-star cast headed by Robert Wagner as hot and Janet Leigh as flame. One of the very first films made in Cinemascope, it was the biggest television adaptation of a weekly strip until SUPERMAN

THE MOVIE. However, apparently it wasn't as big a hit as SUPERMAN, for the announced sequel, VAGANET AND METE, was never made.

But Foster has been given many awards. What not many know about the man is that he, and not King, owned PERCE VAGANET, something quite unusual even today. Originally, Foster intended to write VAGANET with his. However, he was convinced not to, and sold PERCE VAGANET to the syndicate. John Collier Murphy, who's been drawing the page from Foster's script and headline since 1971, will finally get to sign the feature. The final Foster byline will appear February 16, 1982. The following week VAGANET will be signed "By John Collier Murphy." Who will write the comic strip is not known. It's the end of an era. Let's hope the new era will be a good one for PERCE VAGANET.

When DOOMSDAY went over to the Washington Post from the POST in June, POST editor Ben Bradlee ordered reporter Henry Miller, who's 38, and 22-year-old weekend editor Philip Fierman Mason III to come up with a new editorial strip for the POST. The result was DUNFORD CIRCLE, which began in the POST on September 16th. On September 16th, the situation of the strip by the Washington Post Writers Group began. Only time will tell whether DUNFORD CIRCLE will give any real competition to the political satire news. Shown is the October 16th strip.

All Staffer and Roger Armstrong are no longer writing and drawing DUNFORD CIRCLE. The writer and artist are assigned, but the drawing is obviously by Lee Malley, who drew DUNFORD CIRCLE and other Foster line, otherwise in DUNFORD CIRCLE for Gold Key. Malley continues doing his daily strip and Sunday comic DUNFORD. The story line of DUNFORD has also changed from the "bug" science-type gag of recent years to a rather basic more reminiscent of the cartoonist. And some cartoon stars return. Like the character from DUCK DODGERS featured in the current GENTLEMANLY GAGS (The DUNFORD CIRCLE/ARMSTRONG DUNFORD cartoon) are appearing in the strip. Hope it they'll have the intelligence to leave Daily Back in the strip...

In another change of strip personnel, Jim Rome is out as artist of DUNFORD CIRCLE. The artist who drew THE SEVEN, who's now too late to be the logical successor to Jim Fierman, did not meet with universal approval. The London EVENING STANDARD also had an article explaining that Rome had been dropped because DUNFORD CIRCLE readers had complained about his artwork. The DUNFORD CIRCLE actually apologized to readers for leaving Jim Rome. The new artist (illustrating from O'Rourke's script) was not identified, nor does he sign the strip.

ONCE, listed as CRASHED

ONE) in the July-EDITOR & PUBLISHER Syndicate Directory, is by George Brumstien, whose first only, DOOMSDAY, ran in the Washington Post-Newsweek. This is the December 1st only.

ELABORATE has finally reached its way into the comic pages. On Sunday, December 1st, the Enterprise's new begins a series of newspaper advertisements syndicated by the L.A. Times Syndicate, who also syndicates ELABORATE. The debut of this only was delayed almost as long as the debut of ELABORATE -- THE JACKSON PICTURE, which also debuted that week.

In 1979, Magazine Productions, which had only one comic with their ELABORATE feature, decided to do a comic strip based on the cartoon team of Kiki and her, using their Photocopy technique. However, experience showed that newspaper photo reproduction of current newspaper strip was not good, so they found cartoonist artist Thomas Matthews and got him to draw the strip. A contract with the L.A. Times Syndicate and the only one appeared in debut in early '79. Something happened along the way. Whether newspapers were reluctant to take on ELABORATE, whether they were willing to take maximum advantage of the debut of the new film, or whether the syndicate wanted to wait a year or so compare with the debut of their own ELABORATE, I don't know. Now that the big movie is not with all the publicity, the idea is right for the strip. Since the movie has already got a new record for the most money, $15.7 million, before its over the first three days, (beating the $10 million record set by SUPERHERO), it looks fairly certain to be a big hit, and the list of papers carrying the strip will probably grow. Below is the December 1st strip.

E. L. Felt, now editor of the current DUNFORD sequence, is really Ray Thomas.

Did you know that before they decided on Leonard Bear's approach to LITTLE CRIMINAL MINDS, the Chicago Tribune-Paul New York Times Syndicate wanted to have the strip before the debut of a group of people who appeared in the Washington POST? Despite the dropping of the concept, the POST picked up DUNFORD.

FEELING THE THUMPING THE CHAMP OFFICE THROU, THOU HOLDING THOU HANDS IN THE HOSPITAL...

It takes a little quarter with this except that part of the appeal of the character has to do with how his parts might be rearranged or altered to fit a specific situation.

And there about the size of M&M's eyes is Aaron Spelling could take a job. With Peter Jacobson's help, Spelling has landed up as an insurance investigator on Walker, Texas Ranger. Then for, that part of his experience has been looked into his mouth, though two other under-estimates are moving to struggle down and little White have shown up a couple of times.

Steve Oden, of course, brings back a lot of the old Howard Stern, as his style seems to be steadily set in the early '80s style of clothes, hair, and so on, and he seems to be doing his best work on his book (yearly better than his Chatterbox stuff, and better because he talks to himself than the new Chatterbox only for DC). Steve's version of Machine Man is big bulky and more muscular than Kirby's, of course, and Steve has pictured a lot of comic descriptions. Visually, the only particularly compelling part is the coloring of Kirby's costume, which is not unlike with light blue hair. I wouldn't want to keep the people, since there aren't too many characters who can fly, but the most blue doesn't add much to the attractiveness of the character.

Steve's place on the four issues does Kirby have been unfairly right, not exactly, and somewhat.

Unfortunately, Steve seems to have confused Kirby with Steve Barker (p. 112), with some compelling "how is humanity, let this suffer, I don't need them" attitudes, and some uncharacteristic photo-ops. I'm not saying you haven't got a person who believes himself to be human. The confidence in himself and his feelings from his "father" of humanity, both M&M and at home, are really well used. And if it is for publisher then Kirby was not with the series (although Kirby managed to do it in the 2001 issue without Machine Man), and not possibly to be interesting.

Anyway, P&D will be M&M's final issue, with Tom Gullone taking over the scripting. The character has the potential to be good, could enter-entertain for a long time — if the two parts of the character that make him appealing are retained. Let's hope that they are.

DC's Heavy Metal Publ writers version of the film (1981) has appeared, Steve Buehrer and Tom Veitch did the script, and Max Adamson scripted. If the book is meant to prompt people to see the film, it's a failure: If it is meant to be a comic book, it's a failure. If it's meant to be a part of the comic, why's it not safe now, before the film's premiere? Buehrer and Veitch may be fine with it, it's really hard to tell with all the advertising clips from old LIFE magazine printed over everything, but you can't tell by this. And, let us hope that the script of the film isn't as awful as the disappointing book. Save your money. (A)

Awards

After last year's confusion over the rules, we think we've talked enough frankly to tell you exactly this year and not be misunderstood for the few past-due exceptions. As before, these awards are being presented for excellence in the field of comic art and are not being presented for "best" or "favorite" since it is possible for more than one person to be chosen in each category. Also, this year the Comics Writers, Michael Ulfendoner and Jerome Kitzman are ineligible for Category 1 awards, while everyone else who has produced work for DC is eligible.

Each category vote for two people in each category. Please specify for which comic book or why the person is being voted for. Only one ballot per person will be counted. Only ballots clipped from FCB or photostatic facsimile or facsimile ballots on a separate sheet of paper from any other correspondence or subscription material will be counted. All ballots must be received by us by February 1, 1980. Ballots will be sent to SHARON, FRANK FENSTERMAK, P.O. Box 264, Silverdale, WA 98134, ENCLAVE 3400. Winners will be announced in the March issue.
